1	The vision means to me that all children are celebrated for their individuality and uniqueness. We encourage them to shine bright in their own way and be a shining example to others. We show in our actions that we belong to christ. Our shining lights will show through our good deeds and glorify God.	4/25/2022 11:35 AM
2	All children are valued as individuals	4/21/2022 5:45 PM
3	It is embedded in all that we do and guides staff and children's behaviour to be the best they can be, to bring glory to God.	4/21/2022 5:23 PM
4	To me the school vision means that my children and all the other children in the school are nurtured and given the opportunity to grow into the people they are supposed to be without prejudice.	4/1/2022 9:54 AM
5	Every child shines no matter how big or small.	3/31/2022 8:43 PM
6	That each child matters. All children will be treated equally and without preferences. Everyone will be celebrated for the progress they make however small as it is progress. It does not matter whether it is academic, a person or social skill it is a child trying to be their best.	3/30/2022 6:26 PM
7	Celebrating each and every child for who they are and helping them to make the most of themselves	3/30/2022 1:38 PM
8	We celebrating children uniqueness and achievements to help prepare the for their journey through life.	3/29/2022 4:28 PM
9	To always do your best work, be the best bahaved and the person and version of yourself. Trusting in god and the school to help the children achieve this. Whilst I appreciate political correctness and gender inclusion wasn't recognised when the bible was written, just letting your light shine before men isn't inclusive of the girls, female staff, and the wider circle of mums and female governors. Do we teach the children this and if written today would say men and woman?	3/29/2022 10:17 AM
10	I think it is a brilliant reflection on the cohort of children we have. With over 1/3 SEND in our school, every child is given the opportunity to 'Let Their Light Shine to honour the father.' It is also reflective that we are all made in God's image and that we get to shine in different ways. We are all unique, but are also all God's children and he loves us equally.	3/29/2022 9:27 AM
11	That all are celebrated for their efforts (that means pupils and staff) and that everyone has an opportunity to show their 'good works' in front of others and in the eyes of God.	3/29/2022 8:24 AM

1	The school demonstrates the vision by celebrating children's achievements, having a celebration assembly each week, sharing achievements on social media and encouraging all children to let their light shine. The school also shines bright to other by its own uniqueness. It isa shining example and shares its skills and expertise with others.	4/25/2022 11:35 AM
2	Celebrations on achievements within school community and within wider community	4/21/2022 5:45 PM
3	We celebrate all children's unique talents and strengths whatever they may be, this is through celebrations, awrads, recognition in our school community. We embrace diversity and that is what makes our school family.	4/21/2022 5:23 PM
4	All children are celebrated in their achievements unique to them through our Building Learning Power (BLP) & Citizenship awards.	4/1/2022 9:54 AM
5	Showing the uniqueness of every child.	3/31/2022 8:43 PM
6	Everyone is equal. The young people are well known by the staff so that everything they do is of note. All signs of progress are valued whether in or out of school. Achievements are recognised in class groups or school wide, from a full week of reading, improvement in behaviour, taking part in something that can be a difficulty etc the list is endless of the opportunities for recognising that a child has let their light shine. My favourites are when a young person shows kindnesses to others .	3/30/2022 6:26 PM
7	We regularly celebrate our pupils achievements, in and out of school, as a whole school.	3/30/2022 1:38 PM
8	Allowing children to all be unique and	3/29/2022 4:28 PM
9	There are so many I'm sure I'll forget some! Displays in the hall and classrooms. Displays in the spiritual classroom. Stickers for good work and behaviour. Lightbulb moments awards On school achievement certificates Rewards like tea with the head In the school assembly using the candle. Action groups set up like the anti bullying ambassadors Eco warriors. The school council The achievers magazine. It's referenced in the school prayer, by doing your best in work and play. Discussed consistently and referenced throughout the school day so it's naturally imbedded in the childrens learning.	3/29/2022 10:17 AM
10	Children at Elveden are all given the opportunity to shine in ways that are befitting to them. Staff help children to achieve their best in a supportive environment. We ensure that all children feel deeply valued and respected and I feel that children and staff are encouraged to 'Let their Lights Shine' in their many unique ways.	3/29/2022 9:27 AM
11	By encouraging all children to be themselves, to be individual and unique and by ensuring there is a whole school culture of 'openness' where all voices are heard.	3/29/2022 8:24 AM

Q3 Our school values of Hope, Trust, Respect and Forgiveness are displayed around the school and referred to in all that we do. What do these mean to you? How are these demonstrated by the pupils, staff and wider community?

1	The values of hope, trust, respect and forgiveness help to build the character and moral development of all our pupils and give them aspirations for themselves and the wider community. The Christian vision inspires the whole school community to be courageous advocates for good. Pupils demonstrate the four values in all that they do. They are reminded of the values throughout their time at school. Children achieving the values are celebrated by the school by awarding certificates. The values are shared with the wider school community via social media. Holiday homework is normally set around the values so the children and wider families can demonstrate their engagement with them.	4/25/2022 11:35 AM
2	Children treat each other and staff with respect, they are considerate of each other, show kindness towards others and forgive mistakes.	4/21/2022 5:45 PM
3	Children and staff refer to these as part of our behaviour and relationships policy. Children earn dojo points when they demonstrate the Christian values and can articulate why these have been awarded. Staff refer to these in terms of their own behaviour and these are shared with parents and visitors to the school.	4/21/2022 5:23 PM
4	For me to know that we are all respected within the school setting gives me hope that both the children and staff are trusted to perform to the best of their ability and if mistakes are made all will be forgiven. As a school we often demonstrate this in our charitable work, behavior in the wider community and virtually.	4/1/2022 9:54 AM
5	These are great core values that are important in life and are embedded in all our staff and children. Showing, talking, modelling and demonstrating by adults.	3/31/2022 8:43 PM
6	To me this is the school. The children as they arrive each morning with shiny faces eager to be part of the Elveden family. They demonstrate the trusts, Hope and respect that the school nurtures in them as they know they will be cared for, given respect through well planned learning that has the right amount of challenge to progress them. Forgiveness for any indiscretion towards others as they themselves will forgive. The children's Hope is of course on their level but the adults feed into this by encouraging the pupils to be the best they can and demonstrate how we can help to improve the future by doing so.	3/30/2022 6:26 PM
7	These are important values that we guide pupils with by showing these characteristics in staff and links with the local community. The help parents and the estate give us with looking after and fundraising for our school shows respect as well as vice versa with the school and Elveden Estate and our parents.	3/30/2022 1:38 PM
8	We refer to these values during the day. I think that these our values are important because the children will take with them through their life.	3/29/2022 4:28 PM
9	Hope - To be hopeful and ambitious in your thinking and dreams, and hopeful in your prayers for others. Trust - To trust in your ability and teachers to ensure you always do your best. Respect - Treat others with value, respectfulness, conducting yourself with dignity, and observing how your actions and words affect others. Forgiveness - Accepting that both we and others can behave differently than we expect, and being able to move past this continue on our path with dignity and kindness.	3/29/2022 10:17 AM
10	I think these are such important values to have. I value Honesty and Trust more than anything and the children who attend Elveden attend school considering these at the cornerstone of everything we do. They are constantly referred to, even when resolving break time issues. The pupils demonstrate this by acts of courageous advocacy and by being hugely respectful of people from all walks of life. Pupils also choose people who have been meeting our school values and give dojos to them. Staff and members of our community are hugely respectful and model these values in all that they do.	3/29/2022 9:27 AM
11	These are key Christian values that are embedded throughout our school life. Children and	3/29/2022 8:24 AM staff consistently model behaviour that replicates these values and often refer to the importance of these values and how God also values these qualities in us. By ensuring good citizenship, looking out for others, being aware of others needs and difficulties are all behaviours that are seen on a daily basis in school.

Q4 Our Building Learning Power aims are displayed around the school and understood by children. What do they mean to you? How are these demonstrated by the pupils, staff and wider community?

1	The BLP's mean to me that children working on skills that enable them to learn and achieve. Being ready to learn, showing initiative, being curious, persevering and helping each other. The children are celebrated for working on the BLP skills and this is shared with the wider school community. The children talk about the BLP's at home as well as in school and know what each element is. The school and the wider school community demonstrate their meaning in the way they work together to achieve the greater good for the children and the community.	4/25/2022 11:35 AM
2	Children show resilience, initiative, curiosity and work together	4/21/2022 5:45 PM
3	Children demonstrate the school aims through the 4 Rs (resilience, reciprocity, resourcefulness and reflectiveness). They drive the learning powers and support children with their work in class. Parents understand these as children are awarded BLP certificates and feature on our website, achievers magazine and facebook page when they demonstrate these aims.	4/21/2022 5:23 PM
4	Our 'BLPs' consist of the Resourceful Squirrel, the Reflective Owl, the Resilient Tortoise and the Reciprocal Ant. The children are often rewarded for demonstrating these abilities in their school work and in their play and it is embedded into their everyday life so they are able to move forward as well rounded empathetic humans able to work alone and as part of a team. The staff always work as a team and support one another without falter to make our school the special place that it is.	4/1/2022 9:54 AM
5	These also are great key life goals. Just made into animals so children understand better. These are embedded in learning, assemblies and Modelling to our children.!	3/31/2022 8:43 PM
6	These are taught to us by the pupils as they are very sure of what they mean. They are excellent stepping stones for the future lives of the children and for us as adults too. They are evident in the school itself for how successful it is as a small school. Although it lacks in size it makes up in spades with tenacity and heart. Something the pupils can take on with them. The wider school family comes together to celebrate or provide when asked. Any school initiative is met with support even if at times small, it can grow as the school sticks with it.	3/30/2022 6:26 PM
7	Our BLP aims are what we need to be as successful learners. They will support children's learning through their life and adulthood. They will be able to use strategies that they have learnt relating to each BLP animal on what we need to learn.	3/29/2022 4:28 PM
8	I love the BLP Aims and animals I've seen examples in school and as a parent see examples of the four R 's at home too. Reciprocal Team Ants/the hardest word for the children to say however the children completely understand what it means in friendship/helping each other/working with each other/being social. Resilient/ Tough Tortoise Trying their best and continuing to try even when the going gets tough, persevering. Resourcefulness /Sensible Squirrel Being thoughtful, asking questions, finding the tools required to complete a task by yourself, ie looking up a word in a dictionary, for reception sharpening their own pencil. Reflective/Wise Owl This is a great aim life lesson, Learning by your mistakes, correcting mistakes, taking your time to do the job right. The four aims are wonderful learning pillars which the children will use as a foundation for the rest of their lives.	3/29/2022 10:17 AM
9	The BLP aims are used in our every day learning and in our celebration assemblies on Friday. The children often refer to being a 'team ant,' or a 'tough tortoise' and Elveden really is a wonderful family, where they support each other and show that they are a true team. The BLP aims encourage the children to be reflective, show reciprocity, perseverance and resourceful. We hope all the children leave having fulfilled these aims.	3/29/2022 9:27 AM
10	Being resilient, reflective, reciprocal & resourceful are key life skills. Our children learn how important these skills are to ensuring they can be the best version of themselves and	3/29/2022 8:24 AM understand that they are also positive qualities that they have to be able to 'let their light shine before others'.
